JOHNNY APPLESEED

John Chapman, also known as Johnny Appleseed, learned how to grow apple trees when he was very young. In fact, the apple orchard was his favorite place! When Johnny saw settlers moving west he knew they'd be needing apple trees, so he traveled to Ohio, Illinois, and Indiana to plant his seeds. Wherever he went he planted apple seeds! He wore used clothes and sometimes a tin pot on his head. Johnny was kind to people and animals and was welcomed wherever he went.
